WM. K. WEIKERT TAKEN BY DEATH

Former County Commissioner and a Widely Known Resident of Adams County, Died at his Home this Afternoon.

William K. Weikert, former commissioner of Adams County, and one of its most popular residents died at half past one o'clock this afternoon at his home in Mt. Pleasant township, aged 49 years. He was subject to attacks of uraemia and was stricken with this illness on Tuesday evening, sinking gradually until death ensued.

Mr. Weikert was born in Mt. Pleasant township, a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Amos Weikert. In the spring of 1893 he began farming in that township and was most successful. He also engaged in stock raising and was equally fortunate in this occupation. In addition to this work, he superintended the conduct of his threshing outfit through the lower end of the county.

When he ran for the office of county commissioner his popularity and the esteem in which he was held were attested by his election and he served competently. He was a director in the Littlestown Fire Insurance Company and was also on the board of directors of the Littlestown Savings Institution.

In 1892 he was married to Miss Emma J. Sheely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sheely, of Mt. Pleasant township. She survives together with one daughter, Miss Ada Weikert, living at home. He also leaves his mother, two brothers and a sister, Harvey W. Weikert, Charles M. Weikert, and Mrs. Lottie K. Rudisill, all of Mt. Pleasant township. The mother resides with Mrs. Rudisill. He also leaves a step sister, Mrs. Horace Crouse, of Baltimore street, Gettysburg.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

BENDERSVILLE

Bendersville—Preaching services at the Lutheran church Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Junior Endeavor at 6:30, followed by Senior Endeavor at 7:30.

William Scott, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. D. E. Scott, has accepted a position in the shoe department with Dives, Pomeroy and Stewart, Harrisburg.

Isaac Myers has returned from Philadelphia where he was undergoing hospital treatment.

Miss Elza Wierman, of Arendtsville, has returned home after visiting a few days with Mrs. H. W. Knouse.

Recent guests of Rev. and Mrs. W. D. E. Scott were, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ebert, of Loysville, and James Crawford, of Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. William Shepard, of Heidlersburg, visited friends here this week.

Robert Peters, of Harrisburg, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Peters.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Black and daughter, Mae, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Raffensperger, Arendtsville, on Sunday.

The usual "big time" celebrated on Memorial Day will be held here on Saturday, followed by a festival in the evening.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN

Boosters Meet. Lincoln Way Official in Town. New Motor Firm.

H. C. Ostermann, field secretary of the Lincoln Highway Association, was in Gettysburg over night. He is making arrangements to have telephone poles along the entire route from coast to coast marked with a uniform emblem. Each community will be asked to contribute toward the work. Gettysburg's share is $30. Mr. Ostermann was registered at Hotel Gettysburg during his stay here.

Further discussion of the plan to build a number of moderately priced houses was made at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Boosters' Club. Efforts are also under way to secure several industries, among them a glove factory. Twenty six business men were enrolled Tuesday evening as charter members of the club. An entrance fee of $1.00 and monthly dues of 25 cents are charged.

Arthur E. Hutchison has bought from Frank A. Nicholson his interest in the automobile repair shop of Hayberger and Nicholson. The new firm will operate under the name of the H. and H. Machine Shop.

LATE BASE BALL THIS AFTERNOON

Extra Hours Mean Much in Getting Nixon Field into Shape for Battle between Charges of Boyer and Plank.

The Gettysburg Ponies and the Hagerstown Terriers are due to meet for the first time this season on Nixon Field at five o'clock this evening, provided the weather man doesn't turn on a new supply of rain in the meantime.

This morning it was found that Nixon Field would not be dry enough for a game at 1:30. Arrangements were made to transfer the Sophomore-Freshman game at college to Prep Campus, and the Blue Ridge was granted the privilege of playing a late game. It is believed that a good crowd will be present, in view of the fact that Gettysburg is but a half game back of the Marylanders.

The Terriers arrived in town by automobile shortly after eleven o'clock. Earl Howard is with them and was warmly greeted by his many Gettysburg friends. He is staying at college during his sojourn in Gettysburg. Local fans are urging the teams to play one game with Howard opposing Plank but it has not yet been accomplished.

All the games in the Blue Ridge League scheduled for Tuesday were postponed on account of rain and wet grounds.

An idea seems to be current that Gettysburg plays at Hagerstown Friday and Saturday. This is incorrect as the schedule shows that the Ponies will play at Frederick on those two days, the Champs playing here on Monday. On Memorial Day Hanover plays here in the morning and Gettysburg goes down to the York County village for the afternoon game.

The canvas for Nixon Field has arrived and will be put in place on the first clear day. It will be permanent and will not have to be taken down after each game as was the case with the muslin "fence" that was used last summer.

The attending physician believes that the injury which Fuhrey received to his foot, when he slid home in Monday's game, will keep him out of play for a week. The foot was encased in ice bags all day on Tuesday and the swelling has now largely disappeared.

Hoeffcker, whom Gettysburg knocked out of the box last week, has been released by Martinsburg. The Ponies were dicker for him before the season opened but apparently are not so keen for him now.

The college team plays on Nixon Field Friday with Ursinus, and Saturday with Albright. It is generally rumored that Topsy Hoar will be given a try-out with the Ponies after college closes. His work this spring has been decidedly the best of his career.

Local fans want to see Ira Plank take his turn on the mound. They believe he is as good as any in the league and can bring his full share of victories to the Gettysburg club.

CLASS DAY

CLOSING MEETING OF CONFERENCE

Ministers Express their Views on Various Subjects in Set of Resolutions Unanimously Adopted. Final Session.

Before bringing their annual sessions to a close Tuesday night the Adams County Conference of the West Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod passed a series of resolutions expressing, first, gratification in the spirit of fraternity and good will and fellowship manifested; second, urging mutual helpfulness and exchange of services on the part of the ministers of conference; third, expressing approval of the West Pennsylvania Synod and the General Synod on the questions of temperance and the abolition of the drink traffic; fourth, recommending hearty support to the official church publications; fifth, encouraging the organization of women's and young people's missionary societies. The resolutions close with the following:

"We very gratefully express our appreciation to Rev. W. D. E. Scott, pastor of this congregation, and his most excellent people, and other friends, for their generous, unusual, and cordial care and entertainment of conference; to the choir and all who contributed to the pleasure and profit of our meeting.

"We congratulate the local congregation on the possession of their beautiful and valuable church property which is a credit and testimonial to their zeal and love for the Master's work."

The resolutions were submitted by a committee consisting of Rev. J. Jay Hill, Rev. D. R. Becker, and M. E. Sheffer, and were unanimously adopted.

Dr. G. M. Diffenderfer, of Carlisle, was prevented by illness from being present at the Tuesday evening session and his place was filled by Dr. A. E. Wagner, of Gettysburg, and Rev. J. J. Hill, of Littlestown. Dr. Wagner discussed "Civic Righteousness", and Rev. Mr. Hill, "The Sermons Needed for To-day."

The conference closed with the Tuesday evening meeting, and ministers and laymen returned to their homes to-day.

FALSE RUMOR

Report that Congressman Has Been Appointed to State Highway Post.

A report in circulation that Congressman D. F. Lafean has been appointed State Highway Commissioner by Governor Brumbaugh is denied by the congressman's friends. Those who ought to know say that while they had heard Mr. Lafean's name used in connection with the appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Commissioner Cunningham, they do not think it likely that the York man will receive the appointment, especially for the reason that a man with technical knowledge of the subject would most likely be appointed, and again, they are under the impression it will go to the western part of the state. In this connection the name of Charles F. Patton, of the Clearfield district, is mentioned. He is at present secretary of agriculture.

CROPS ALL RIGHT

No Damage Worth while is Done by Low Temperatures.

The cool spring which prevailed in Pennsylvania this year had little effect on growing crops and fruits, according to reports which have been reaching the State Department of Agriculture. The apple crop, it is stated, will be even bigger than it was last year. The yield of cherries, plums and peaches will be on a par with the yield last year. Wheat, rye and clover are in excellent shape this year and more than a dozen counties report the condition of wheat as much better than a year ago.

TAKE HOURS FROM CAR RUNS AWAY SPEEDING RECORD ON THE MOUNTAIN

Motor Car Whizzed through Gettysburg and Arrived in New York More than a Day ahead of Schedule.

Bobby Hammond, driving an Em-pire car, passed through Gettysburg Tuesday morning on his way to New York where he arrived about two o'clock in the afternoon, after having motored from San Francisco in 6 days, 10 hours and 59 minutes. A Cadillac car recently covered the route in 7 days, 11 hours and 52 minutes.

Hammond left San Francisco at 12:01 a. m. Wednesday, May 17, and he arrived at Times Square at 1:59 Tuesday afternoon. The route taken was along the Lincoln Highway. About 3384 miles were covered.

This car is believed to be the first automobile to carry United States mail across the continent. A sealed mail sack was given him in San Francisco, containing a letter from Mayor Rolfe, of that city, to Mayor Mitchell, of New York.

Hammond is well known in connection with previous fast time transcontinental tours, being a pilot in a car that established a record six years ago and at present holds the honor of the fastest transcontinental trip in a cyclecar. He was one of the drivers in the New York to Paris race of several years ago and has made a tour of the world on a motor cycle. As an endurance driver he holds a record of three days and two nights without leaving his seat.

He lost no time in his speed test as he passed through Gettysburg.

HURT IN RUNAWAY

Horse Takes Fright when Shaft Drops. Another Accident.

While returning home from work in the evening Messrs. Felix Stouter, David Harmon and Charles Wagman, of Emmitsburg, met with a serious accident. The three men were in a stick wagon, the shaft dropped and frightened the horse, which began to run away. The occupants were thrown out, inflicting cuts and bruises on Harmon and Stouter. Mr. Wagman was rendered unconscious and his shoulder was dislocated. Dr. B. I. Jamison was at once called and administered medical aid. The runaway horse was caught near Mrs. Krietz's store. The injured men are reported doing nicely.

Several evenings ago Master John Krietz met with a painful accident. He and one of his companions were wrestling, when suddenly he fell and broke one of the bones in his wrist.

RAISE THE LIMIT

But Banks Continue to Get the Deposits. Better Rate.

Patrons of the postal savings department at the Gettysburg post office are benefited by the plan to accept larger deposits, made possible by an amendment to the postal savings act. Under the new plans a depositor may have an account amounting to $1,000 upon which interest will be paid. Formerly $500 was the maximum amount that a depositor could have to his credit. The change in the act is announced in a special bulletin prepared by the post office department, a copy of which has been received by Postmaster Charles S. Duncan.

With the local banks paying three and one half per cent on time deposits, however, the postal savings plan has never gained much popularity here.

NARROW ESCAPE

Bullet Passes through Man's Shirt. Does not Know its Origin.

While working on the new Gelwicks building, near Emmitsburg, Harry Bowling came within an ace of losing his life. A stray bullet, fired from a pistol in the hands of some unknown person, struck his shirt perforating it in two places. Bowling heard the shot but could not tell from what direction it came.

Four Jump when Trolley Gets beyond Control. Fortunately Stayed on Track and All Escaped Serious Injury.

Four men risked their lives in leaps from a runaway trolley car to the mountainside and a score or more other passengers, including many women, were much frightened when the motorman on a Pen Mar trolley lost control of the car while descending the mountain slope, and the trolley dashed along at a "mile-a-minute" clip, possibly faster.

The brakes apparently were useless. The trolley pole left the feed wire and the thumping of the trolley pole against the overhead wires added fright to the passengers' horror. One after another the four men leaped from the trolley "running board"—it was a summer car—and, although the car was moving very rapidly, not one of the quartet was seriously injured. One man rolled far down the hillside. He received a few bruises and his coat was torn.

The car did not leave the rails, much to the satisfaction of the crew and the passengers, and the trolley was brought to a stop at the base of the slope. Many of the women passengers were on the running board while the car was going at full speed and were ready to jump in the event the car would leave the rails.

Another car preceding the runaway put on extra speed and kept out of its way until the foot of the mountain was reached.

Our truck gardeners and fruit growers have quite a lot of pests now of which they knew nothing twenty or thirty years ago. The pests make quite a lot of extra work and expense. The cabbage worm, the Colorado potato bug, the San Jose scale, and about a half dozen other pests to the apple trees, the peach tree borer and the yellows on the peach trees, the twig blight on the pear trees, and the worm that infests the currant bushes are a few of the many enemies.

TERRIFIC BATTLE STILL RAGES

Berlin Disputes Paris Claim, But Admits Loss of Some Trenches—Hills Strewn With Bodies.

Paris, May 24.—Fighting continued with extreme violence on both banks of the Meuse along the Verdun front during the whole night.

Two German counter attacks on French positions on Hill 304 failed completely, the war office announced. The French made further gains with in Fort Douaumont. The Germans now hold only a small angle on the northeastern corner of the fort.

The battle around Hill 304 was specially severe. In attacking French positions on the west side of the hill the Germans used liquid gas, the official statement says, and penetrated one of the French trenches, but were dislodged at once. On the east side of the hill the Germans attacked after intense artillery preparation, but were not permitted to reach the French lines.

The principal fighting east of the Meuse was in the sector between Thiaumont and Douaumont. The Germans attacked in mass formation and are said to have suffered enormous losses. They succeeded in recouping one of the trenches north of Thiaumont from which had been captured by the French.

The recapture by the French after three months of the greater part of Fort Douaumont, which was taken by the Germans at the outset of their Verdun drive, is received with great elation by the press and public, the more so on account of the effect it is expected to have on neutral opinion.

General Nivelle, the French commander at Verdun, took advantage of the fact that the Germans recently have been concentrating all their attention on Le Mort Homme (Dead Man's Hill), on the other side of the river, and assembled a large amount of artillery for the attack on the Douaumont sector. On Sunday General Nivelle began a heavy artillery attack on Fort Douaumont and adjacent positions. The hour fixed for the infantry assault was 4.30 o'clock P. M. Monday. When the moment came French infantry, which had been carefully selected and trained began the advance singing the "Marseillaise."

The German resistance at some points was stubborn. On the Froide terre road and at Douaumont the French had to force back the German infantry inch by inch at the point of the bayonet. The leading French contingents reached Fort Douaumont at five o'clock. They killed the Germans who resisted and sent to the rear a large number of prisoners.

As soon as they recovered from their surprise the Germans launched a number of fierce counter attacks, but all failed and by ten o'clock P. M. preparations had been completed to deal with the serious efforts the Germans are expected to make to recapture the lost positions.

The fighting on the Verdun front during the past thirty-six hours has been as violent as any since the mighty battle opened, on February 21. Amidst the uproar of heavy artillery, fire and beneath the flaring glare of star bombs the soldiers of France and Germany were at each other's throat throughout the entire night. Dawn found the hillside strewn with bodies and soaked with blood. The battered hatches of woodland were upturned into hills of earth and tree trunks where the heavy shells had burst.

The French success is considered by military critics here to have shaken the whole German line at Verdun.

To the west of the Meuse, Hill 295, the western summit of Dead Man's Hill has become a no man's land, like Hartmannswillerkopf. Once before the French abandoned it temporarily to avoid useless loss, recouping it when the opportunity came.

No less than 100,000 men are believed to have been sacrificed by the Germans in their assaults on Le Mort Homme and Hill 304. Division after division has been thrown forward into the pitiless maw of the French guns without a foot's advance.

Still Hold Douaumont, Says Berlin. Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, May 24.—Announcement was made by the war office that in the fighting north of Verdun the French have taken some first line positions of the Germans, but that Fort Douaumont remains firmly in German hands.

Methodists for Suffrage. Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 24.—The Methodist Episcopal general conference went on record as endorsing woman suffrage. The resolution, which was offered by Federal Judge Henry W. Rogers, of New Haven, Conn., was adopted amid applause. Only six delegates voted against it.

Presbyterians for "Dry" Nation. Birmingham, Ala., May 24.—A constitutional amendment for federal prohibition was endorsed by the Cumberland Presbyterian church, at its eighty-fifth annual assembly here.

BRITAIN 'SLACKING,'
CHURCHILL HINTSWhere Are Its 5,000,000
Men, He Asks.

London, May 24.—Premier Asquith moved a vote of credit for £300,000,000 ($1,500,000,000) in the house of commons, as had been forecast.

The premier stated that this was the eleventh loan vote since the beginning of the war and the second for the current financial year. The total granted this year, he added, was therefore £600,000,000 ($3,000,000,000) making a grand total of £2,382,000,000 ($11,910,000,000).

Winston Spencer Churchill, former first lord of the admiralty, who has been opposing the government in the house of commons since his return from the front, was the first speaker in the general debate initiated by the premier's motion for the vote of credit.

"Where is the British army of 5,000,000 men that the government claims to have under arms?" Colonel Churchill then demanded. "Two hundred thousand officers now with the army, with 200,000 servants and 50,000 grooms, which is an army in itself, and also great masses of cavalry are not being used. New formations could be built by these men, creating a force of the highest military quality."

The speaker urged abolition of these officers and grooms, reduction in the number of men retained for home service and also the use of the "reservists of Africa and Asia." He said African and Asiatic troops could be trained in Egypt "for next year's campaign."

"The prime minister," Colonel Churchill continued, "said the total military effort of the empire was five million men. Certainly they have not been in contact with the enemy. Our military efforts should be measured by the number of enemy forces we are holding on our respective fronts. The forty-five German and Turkish divisions which we face would total 200,000 men all told and therefore the actual fighting force with which we are in contact is probably in effective rifle and artillery strength, half a million men."

"If our total effort is 5,000,000 men, it is evident, after every conceivable deduction has been made that there is a large margin not yet usefully applied to the prosecution of the war."

MANY HURT IN STRIKE RIOT

Police at Old Forge Helpless, and State Troopers Are Summoned. Scranton, May 24.—Ten persons were injured and others suffered battered heads and faces in a riot at Old Forge, where several hundred I. W. M. mine workers are on strike.

The strikers attacked men who refused to join their ranks and clubbed them. Local police were unable to cope with the situation and state troopers were summoned from Wilkes-Barre.

Farmer Caught Under Harrow. Warrington, Pa., May 24.—Caught under a spring-tooth harrow when his team of horses became frightened and started to run, Howard Cadwallader, a farmer, was dragged along the field and seriously injured before he disentangled himself. He has gashes covering his head and face, and his body is a mass of contusions. The horses were also badly cut.

DRIVE ITALIANS
ACROSS BORDERAustrians Defeat Them in the Sugana Valley.

ARE STEADILY ADVANCING

Troops of the Dual Monarchy Are Continuing Drive Into Italy—Joined by Bulgars.

London, May 24.—While a despatch from Rome says the Austrian defense has been checked along the whole Isonzo line, official reports from the capitals of the central powers report further advances in the great assault of the dual monarchy's troops upon the Italian front, especially in the Sugana valley.

The following despatch, from Berlin, was received:

"The Austrians are successfully continuing their offensive against the capture of the Italian fortified position at Monte Velna. The number of cannon captured since May 16 has risen to a total of 188. The report says: "Italian front: Our troops advanced on both sides of the Sugana Valley. The enemy hastily fled from Borgo (about five miles north of the Italian frontier). Quantities of booty were captured by us. The Graz corps crossed the border and harried the defeated enemy. The Italian fortifications of Monte Velna are already in our hands."

"In the Brand valley an attack against the enemy's positions near Chiesla is in progress."

From Austro-Hungarian press headquarters came the following, dated Monday: "Austrian troops continued to reduce the outer girdle of forts protecting Arsenio. The army of the Austrian crown prince is following up the advantage gained on Friday, when the first breach was made in the line to the northwest of the fort and which enabled the Austrians to attack some of the outer positions eastward of the place from both the front and rear."

"The commanding hills of Tonnezza, Parso Della Vena and Monte Melignone fell in rapid succession, bringing the Austro-Hungarians in possession of the entire line from Form, in the river Astico, westward to the frontier. "Further advances have been made by the Austrians toward the line of hills north of the Val di Haghi, on the highest of which one of the chief forts of Arsenio is."

"Both wings of the crown prince's army also have been going steadily ahead. The right, or west, has been going forward from the northern slope of the Col Santo Ridge. It stormed Col Santo itself and already is proceeding against Monte Pasubio."

"The left wing stormed Saso Alto, the commanding hill of the Armentars ridge, thus depriving the Italians of their last supporting positions on this ridge and enabling the Austro-Hungarians to advance into the Sugana valley and take Roncegno."

Rome said: "Along the Isonzo front the Italians have made prisoners of Bulgarians, showing Bulgarians have joined the Austrians in their present offensive. The Austrian heavy guns are much more numerous in this region than those of the Italians, but they have not been able to overcome the well-organized Italian defenses, which thus far have checked the Austrian advance along the whole Isonzo line."

WILSON STANDS BY MARSHALL

The President Wants Him Again for His Running Mate.

Washington, May 24.—Efforts to create interest in the Democratic national convention by staging a contest for the vice presidential nomination at St. Louis are doomed to fail.

Although friends of certain western possibilities are loudly shouting their availability, it was learned that President Wilson will stand squarely behind Vice President Thomas R. Marshall.

There are two United States

tators to be elected from Indiana this year, and the president is fully convinced, it is learned, that the presence of Mr. Marshall on the national ticket will be most essential for party success there.

1200 Miners Strike.

Tamaqua, May 24.—Because the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company wants contract miners to remain inside the mines eight hours, unless released by inside bosses in special cases, 1200 employees went on strike at Panther Creek Valley, throwing idle Nos. 19 and 11 collieries.

Report Russia Crop Failure.

Berlin, May 24.—A crop disaster in Russia is reported in advices received from Stockholm by the Overseas News agency. It is said that all the winter crops of the northern and middle governments of Russia have been destroyed by a severe frost.

ATTACKS MADE ON STATE INSURANCESays No Commonwealth Should Enter Business.

Philadelphia, May 24.—An attack upon state insurance schemes and a plea for all buyers and sellers of insurance to join his organization in an effort to stop the spread of all socialist plans which would wipe out private business were made by Mark T. McKee, secretary of the National Council of Insurance Federations, in an address before the annual convention of the Insurance Federation of Pennsylvania in the Hotel Adelphi.

Mr. McKee said little could be expected from the legislatures, because they reflected the ideas of the people who selected them. He said that several states were discussing the advisability of instituting a system of state health insurance. This is the opening wedge, he said, and when it is once begun surety, casualty, fire and all other forms of insurance will be compelled to go out of existence as private enterprises.

W. S. Diggs, president of the National Council of Insurance Federations, made a similar attack upon state insurance. He said that the fundamental principle of the Insurance Federation was that state or national had no more right to enter into a business that can be conducted better by individuals than they have to go into the flour business or drug business or any like enterprise.

GRAPE JUICE HAD KICK

Dealer Sues Philadelphia Company Because Product Got Him in Trouble.

Philadelphia, May 24.—A novel suit for damages was begun against the Philadelphia Pickling company, in court of common pleas No. 5, wherein Jacob Cohen, a dealer in soft drinks of Vineland, N. J., claims $10,000 damages for injuries resulting through the sale to him by the pickling company of grape juice, warranted to be pure and free from alcohol—that is to say non-pickling—whereas certain white ribbon residents in Vineland, to whom Cohen retailed the grape juice were shocked to discover that it was not the innocent temperance beverage it was reputed to be, but had a kick in it, in the form of a goodly percentage of alcohol.

The discovery was disastrous to Cohen. He was arrested on a warrant charging him with the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors and held under $300 bail for court, and was afterwards, on September 16, 1915 convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs, and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for four months.

NEW PEACE RUMOR

U. S., Vatican and Spain Negotiating for Armistice, It is Said.

Amsterdam, May 24.—The Munich Neueste Nachrichten publishes a wireless despatch from Madrid, which says that negotiations are in progress there "between the pope and King Alfonso, and the pope and President Wilson for the purpose of arranging an armistice among the belligerent countries with the object of discussing peace terms."

Believe Peace Outlook Better.

London, May 24.—The underwriters charged fifty per cent to insure against a declaration of peace between Great Britain and Germany before January 1.

The rate indicates that in the underwriters' opinion the prospects for an early peace are better than two months ago, when the rate for the same risk was only thirty per cent.

CAMP FIRE ACTIVITIES

Beads Presented for Home Craft Games and Legends.

On Tuesday evening the Monocissee Camp Fire held its last indoor ceremonial meeting for the season, in their room at the Presbyterian church. The girls entered singing "Wohelo," the Camp Fire song. They took their places around the camp fire and then conducted the candle ceremony.

This was followed by the roll call. Each girl, as her Indian name was called, answered "Kolah," which means friend. Each girl told of something which the Camp Fire has done as an organization since the last ceremonial meeting. An honor bead for home craft was presented to each one by the guardian, Miss Ella Gilliland. Ralph L. Wagner, of college, who is Scoutmaster of Troop Number One and a "Comrade of the Fire" then told of the Indian legend of the famous Virginia "fairy" or "lucky" stone.

Miss Nellie Warner then received the rank of "Fire Maker" and was presented with a unique silver bracelet as insignia of her position. Miss Warner is the first of the Monocissee Camp Fire girls to win this honor. A flash-light was taken of the circle.

On Monday evening the Monocissee Camp Fire girls held a very delightful reception in their room at the Presbyterian church. The reception was given in honor of the graduation of their president, Miss Nellie Warner. Scoutmaster Wagner had charge of the amusements, and the early part of the evening was spent very pleasantly in playing a number of novel and interesting games. The game which proved the most interesting and popular was a French game which is closely related to our own game of "Blind Man's Bluff." Refreshments were served by a committee of the girls and Miss Warner was presented with a box of official camp fire stationery. A few stories and conundrums were told and the reception came to a close.

INJURY FATAL TO YOUNG SOLDIER

Had Seen Active Service in Alaska. Was Serving his Third Enlistment when Motor Truck Caused his Death.

From injuries sustained when he was run over by an automobile truck patrolling the Mexican border, in New Mexico, several days ago, Harry W. Miller, a United States trooper in the Twelfth cavalry, troop M, stationed at that place, died Tuesday afternoon in a hospital at Dallas, Texas, according to word received at Dillsburg by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller. His parents received a telegram Monday afternoon, stating that the condition of their son was serious and that he was confined to the hospital as a result of his injuries.

Miller, who was aged thirty five years, was well known in York Springs and that part of Adams County. He left Dillsburg about eight years ago to enlist in the army. He was sent by the government to Fort Slocum, New York, where he spent some time in a training camp. From there he was ordered to Kansas. He was then sent to Colorado where he received an honorable discharge from the ranks.

Following an absence for a short time he re-enlisted and spent one year in the United States, after which he was sent to Alaska, where he served two years. He was brought back from Alaska and again given an honorable discharge. For the third time he enlisted and was among the last troops to be sent to the Mexican border for patrol duty. This occurred about two months ago. His last enlistment was in the state of Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller state that neither of the telegrams received gave any details about the accident which befell their son. He is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Cora West, Bowmanville; Mrs. Anna Hershey, Mt. Royal; Rebecca and Luella, at home; Powell, at home; and Bruce Miller, of Fort Ellen Allen, Vermont. The body will be interred in the Siddonsburg cemetery. It is expected to arrive Saturday next.

CASHTOWN

Cashtown—A number of persons are having their plots at Flohr's Cemetery put in order before the annual memorial services. Some of the places, however, have not yet been cared for.

Sunday evening at seven o'clock, missionary meeting will be held at Flohr's Church. St. James Orchestra of Gettysburg will furnish the music and Mr. Reager will deliver an address. All are invited.

Mrs. Lewis Carbaugh and Mrs. Magdalena Mickley are on the sick list.

G. J. Martz and A. B. Kump have purchased Ford automobiles.

Farmers in this section are very busy with their spring crops. Quite a number are through planting corn but the cold weather seems to keep everything back. We had frost last week, and on Sunday ice was reported at several places.

The people of our town have been improving their properties by painting, putting down cement walks, and making various repairs.

On Monday James Diehl and daughter, Elizabeth, went to the home of Mr. Diehl's son, John, in Greenville. John Diehl and his family will take them by automobile to Farmville, North Carolina, to spend some time with another son and brother, Dr. Ervin Diehl.

The Lincoln Highway has been improved with a coating of fine stone. It keeps the repair hands busy keeping them raked on the road until the oiling is done. This is expected in the near future.

CLEAN UP AND PAINT UP A CONTINUOUS CAMPAIGN

Suggestions for Making Our Town a Better Home
Town—Chairman of National Bureau
Says Start Now and Keep It Up
the Year 'Round.

SINCE Hercules diverted the river to renovate the Augean stables "Clean Up" has had its place in the world's vernacular. With Spring the desire to refurbish comes subconsciously into the hearts of men and women, and communities. But without direction and sustained effort the expression of that desire, in the form of the ordinary "Clean Up Day" or "Week," is apt to result in a superficial rally against filth.

Years ago Allen W. Clark, a St. Louis editor, made up his mind that this natural "Clean Up" instinct could be turned to account, that it could be developed into a real campaign working toward definite ideals and accomplishing permanent results. And so, in May 1912, Mr. Clark founded the National "Clean Up and Paint Up" Campaign Bureau, with headquarters in St. Louis. He hoped that a thorough-going movement, national in its scope and practical in its principles, might take the place of the "annual bath" idea as expressed in the old-time "clean up day" or "week."

A National Civic Movement.

For four years the scope of the National Bureau's service has rapidly extended until this year it is co-operating with more than 6,000 local communities in the organization and direction of real "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaigns, not "days," or "weeks." Continuous campaigns for homes and hometowns beautiful, sanitary and safe, conducted by permanent committees, and involving the co-operation of city and town officials, club women, commercial organizations, the children, fire prevention interests, all business men and property owners, is the goal aimed at by all of the National Bureau's propaganda.

Mr. Clark declares that the bane of any community is the citizen who lacks even a semblance of interest in the community, and that, strange as it may seem in a democracy, absence of this interest seems to be pretty generally prevalent in the average American community. Such a citizen would have "The Town" or "The City," whatever those names may signify when the body of citizens is eliminated, keep the streets and alleys clean, preserve the public and individual health, eliminate nuisances, make everything in town spick and span and satisfactory while the citizen sits back and looks on.

The real "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign, organized on the plans of the National Bureau, gives everyone something definite to do to help make their hometown beautiful, sanitary and safe. And the campaign's educational influence should work steadily the year 'round and year after year, automatically eliminating many nuisances caused formerly by carelessness or thoughtlessness of property owners and tenants.

A Suggestion for Our Town.

The methods for accomplishing all of this suggested by the National Bureau are well illustrated by a brief description of the local campaign organization in St. Louis. With various adaptations this St. Louis plan has been found practicable in any city, no matter how large or small.

The entire campaign is under the direction of the Continuous St. Louis "Clean Up and Paint Up" Campaign Committee, of which Charles M. Talbert, director of streets and sewers, is chairman. On this committee are various civic and business leaders, including the leading club women of the city.

Each member of the general committee is chairman of a subcommittee responsible for some definite department of the campaign's activity. The Director of Streets and Sewers is chairman of the committee on "Refuse Clean-up," the chief of the Fire Department is chairman of the committee on fire prevention and the head of the Health Department is chairman of the committee on housing reform.

A partial list of these campaign committees, with notation of some of the objects of each follows:

Committees for the Work.

Street Department—Household waste, permanent plan, improvement of districts which will be center of interest in coming National Democratic Convention, smooth paving, signs on public buildings, rubbish boxes.

Landscape Gardening—Ordinances, campaign among property owners, yard planting campaign among children.

Fire Prevention—Clean up rubbish, roofs, condemn shacks that are fire risks.

Housing—Insanitary yards, privies, tenements, lodging houses, garbage receptacles.

Vacant Lots—Reported by Boy Scouts, flower and vegetable gardens by school children and Real Estate Exchange, weed cutting, bird boxes.

Flower Boxes—In congested districts, downtown and opposite Union Station.

Unightly Advertising—Posters on buildings, "For Rent" signs, ordinances.

Appearances of Buildings—Vacant buildings, painting, lighting of prominent corners.

Street Drinking Fountains—General and on downtown corners.

Smoke Abatement.

Publicity—Billboards, posters, street cars, circulars for children, buttons, newspapers, moving pictures.

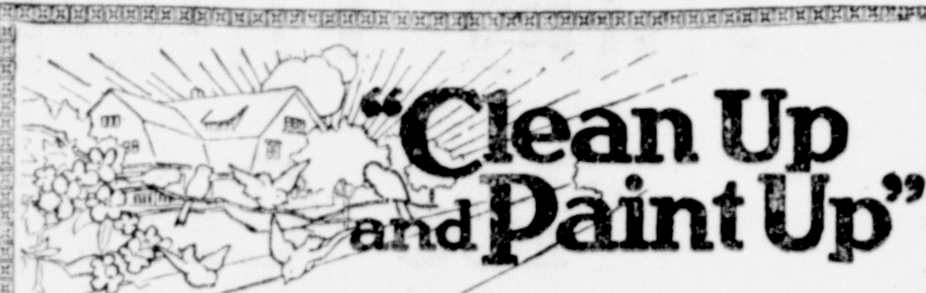

Speakers—On general subject, also on special phases of campaign.

District Organization—Report nuisances, see property owners and urge to clean up and paint up and plant trees.

School Children—Distribution of printed matter, school gardens.

Police—Report nuisances, distribute directions for rubbish collections, request co-operation of residents.

The chairman of these various committees should be the city or town officials or civic leaders who are most interested in the work to be done by the committee.

BY THE EDITOR.

MONKEYS imitate. Sheep follow the leader. And most of us—men, women and children alike—are prone to do the same.

Imitation is bad for the monkey and bad for the sheep if the example followed is bad. But it is good for both if the leadership is safe. Just so with us mortals. Inspired by environment we can think great thoughts and do things worth while. Depressed by environment we can sink into the depths of despondency.

But thanks to human powers of initiative we can shape our environment—we can make it what we will, if we will. And so intimately are our own interests linked with those of our neighbors that when we improve our own surroundings, be it ever so little, we improve theirs.

Right there the monkey in man asserts itself. Today your neighbor fixes up his yard, removes rubbish, plants flowers, trims his hedge, paints his house.

Tomorrow your own place looks sick. You never noticed before that a little cleaning up and painting up would accomplish so much in making home life happy and healthy through the long outdoor months of summer. So you get busy with the pruning shears, the rake, lawn-mower and garden hose. You start a painter working on your house and outbuildings. Forthwith you, your wife and the kiddies begin to realize more fully the "joy of living" in the good old summertime.

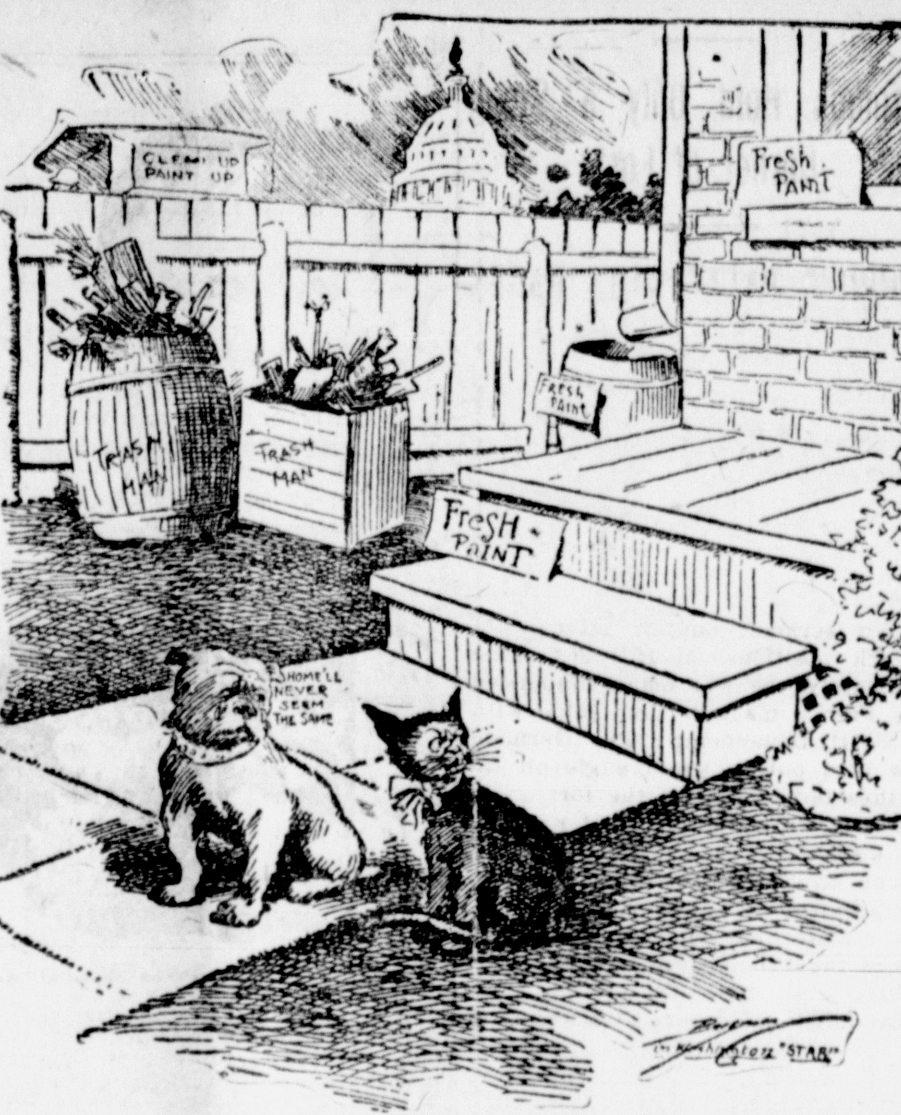

Day after tomorrow other neighbors will begin to perk up their premises and their persons. Then others will follow their example, and so the spirit of spring's regeneration will spread from house to house and block to block.

But let's not wait for this creeping regeneration of our town. Let's organize immediately a continuous "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign and make the refurbishing a thorough community movement. Our official community can help, and so can each civic organization and the business men, and the women, and the children. Let's make "Clean Up and Paint Up and Keep It Up" our slogan, and live up to it.

CLEAN UP AND PAINT UP NOW

CLEAN UP AND PAINT UP To Remove "For Rent" Signs

By E. T. TOBEY
President Real Estate Bureau
Little Rock, Ark.

IT is not surprising that houses which are for rent should be without tenants, because in most cases such houses are unpainted, the steps are rickety and the porches not in repair.

The number of vacant houses in any city is largely due to the negligence of the landlord himself. I recently took two ladies out, trying to find for them a desirable six or seven-room house to rent. I was unable to find anything to suit them, either on my own list or on the lists of other real estate firms, and these ladies were not exacting in their wants. They were shown a few houses of the desired size, but the houses were not in good condition. It is true that some of the landlords say they are willing to make certain repairs for a good tenant, but it has been my experience after years in the business, that it is best to put your house in attractive shape first and you will quickly get a tenant.

Houses that are kept repaired and painted not only rent better, but they greatly improve the looks of the city.

CLEAN UP AND PAINT UP

Let's Make Our Town Attractive,
Sanitary and Safe.

An editorial by BRUCE BARTON
in "Every Week."

I HAVE in mind two towns. Entering one, the railroad runs between two rows of dirty back yards filled with tin cans and rubbish. Entering the other, it passes houses neatly painted, back yards with flowers in them, and streets swept clean.

These two towns had the same population five years ago. But recently two new factories have moved to one of them; real estate values have advanced; new houses are being built; everybody is prosperous and happy. And the residents of the other town cannot understand their "bad luck."

A real "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign would have taken the "bad luck" town out of its rut.

This year more than 6,000 cities and towns in the United States are conducting "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaigns.

Many men and women go through life without ever doing anything for their community. "Clean Up and Paint Up" offers you your chance.

The greatest miracles of modern times have been performed with bonfires, drain pipes, soap and paint. The Philippines have been made a healthier place to live in than the average American town. Typhoid has been stamped out of Serbia. The Panama Canal zone has been transformed from a dismal unhealthy swamp to a wholesome place for homes.

Last year Cleveland, in its "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign, disposed of refuse sufficient to fill a train three and one-half miles long.

Another middle western town gathered its boys together, and, by offering a reward for each 100 tin cans, abolished its unsightly back yards in a single day.

There is no better test of the civilization of a community than this: How much paint does it use?

A wise man said that.

It is not given to you to found a religion or make a great invention or discover a new continent.

But you can make your town a cleaner, better place to live in. And by so doing you give a little push to the chariot of civilization.

THERE'S WORK FOR ALL IN THIS CAMPAIGN

CLEAN UP AND PAINT UP

Women Can Take a Leading Part in This Movement for Beautiful, Sanitary and Safe Home Towns.

By LOUISE KERPER, Chairman Civic Committee, Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs

WOMEN are housekeepers. They are apt to see more clearly the need of municipal housecleaning than are men. Through our clubs we have an excellent opportunity to lead in "Clean Up and Paint Up" work. Here are some pointers for women who would help regenerate their community with a real "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign.

Each campaign involves the renovation of the interiors of buildings as well as yards, streets and alleys.

The removal of all rubbish and useless things is most important.

Some revenue can be derived from the sale of waste paper.

During the "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign is a good time to have rubbish cans placed upon street corners, for the deposit of paper.

Nothing will do more to improve the appearance of a town than the liberal use of paint.

Useless and unsightly outbuildings should be torn down.

Business houses need attention. Rubbish accumulates in cellars, under stairways, in storerooms, passageways, and in the rear of hotels and restaurants. Look out for RATS here.

A clean yard is not sufficient; it should be pleasing to the eye. Plant grass and flower seeds. Sod bare spots in lawns. Plant shrubs, vines and trees.

The thresholds of a town should be made inviting to the visitor.

This is a good time to find out about the sanitary ordinances of the town. How about the regulations in regard to garbage collection, the use of closed garbage cans, manure piles, spitting, toilets, etc.? Are they adequate? Are they enforced? Appoint a committee on this subject. Have the ordinance published and distributed widely.

It is very important that the "Clean Up and Paint Up" idea be impressed upon the minds of school children.

"GREATER THAN FIRE LOSS"

By PROF. H. H. KING
Kansas State Agricultural College.

LACK of paint causes a greater annual loss through deterioration than the aggregate Kansas fire loss for twelve months. Yes, there is much more reason for a real "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign than the average layman would at first recognize.

Paint, as has often been said, serves more than the mere purpose of decoration. Its principal value lies in the fact that it prolongs the life of the surfaces painted.

Wood and iron, on exposure to the air, undergo a slow process of oxidation, which just as surely destroys them as though they were set on fire, the difference being the speed at which the reaction occurs.

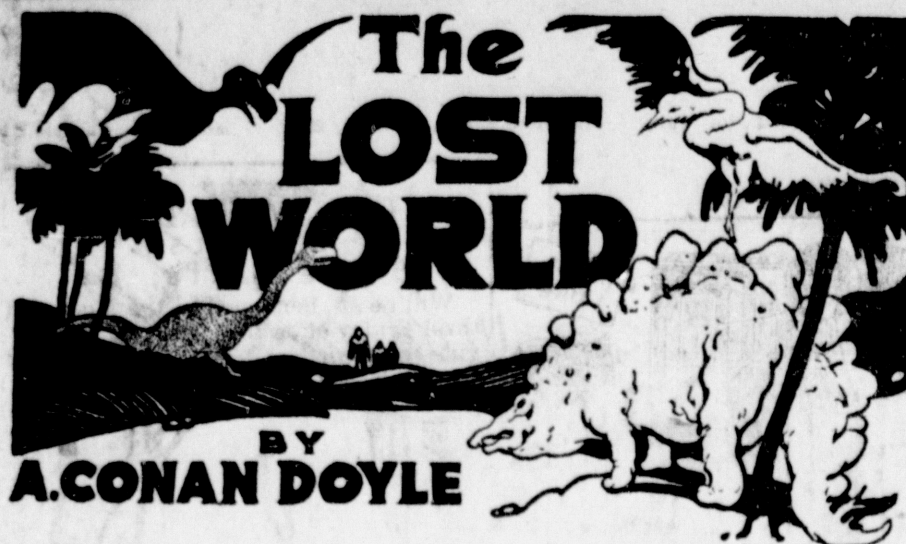

We take out insurance to cover loss by fire and should just as surely put on paint to cover loss by decay. It takes very little calculation to discover the apparently astounding fact that the loss through lack of painting is greater in Kansas than the loss by fire.

When the property owner comes to a full realization of the true reason for painting there will be no need for public-spirited people to back up a National Campaign for such a purpose.

CHAPTER XX.

Attacked by Frightful Monsters.

It was on the third day after our forming our camp near the Indian caves that a tragedy occurred. Challenger and Summerlee had gone off together that day to the lake, where some of the natives under their direction were engaged in harpooning specimens of the great lizards. Lord John and I had remained in our camp, while a number of the Indians were scattered about upon the grassy slope in front of the caves engaged in different ways. Suddenly there was a shrill cry of alarm, with the word "Stoa!" resounding from a hundred tongues. From every side men, women and children were rushing wildly for shelter, swarming up the staircases and into the caves in a mad stampede.

Looking up, we could see them waving their arms from the rocks above and beckoning to us to join them in their refuge. We had both seized our magazine rifles and ran out to see what the danger could be. Suddenly from the near belt of trees there broke forth a group of twelve or fifteen Indians, running for their lives, and at their very heels two of those frightful monsters which had disturbed our camp and pursued me upon my solitary journey. In shape they were like horrible toads and moved in a succession of springs, but in size they were of an incredible bulk, larger than the largest elephant. We had never before seen them save at night, and indeed they are nocturnal animals save when disturbed in their lairs, as these had been. We now stood amazed at the sight, for their blotched and warty skins were of a curious, flitting iridescence, and the sunlight struck them with an ever varying rainbow bloom as they moved.

We had little time to watch them, however, for in an instant they had overtaken the fugitives and were making a dire slaughter among them. Their method was to fall forward with their full weight upon each in turn, leaving him, crushed and mangled, to be bound on after the others. The wretched Indians screamed with terror, but were helpless, run as they would, before the relentless purpose and horrible activity of these monstrous creatures. One after another they went down, and there were not half a dozen surviving by the time my companion and I could come to their help. But our aid was of little avail and only involved us in the same peril. At the range of a couple of hundred yards we emptied our magazines, firing bullet after bullet into the beasts, but with no more effect than if we were pelting them with pellets of paper. Their slow reptilian natures cared nothing for wounds, and the springs of their lives, with no special brain center, but scattered throughout their spinal cords, could not be tapped by any modern weapons. The most that we could do was to check their progress by distracting their attention with the flash and roar of our guns and so to give both the natives and ourselves time to reach the steps which led to safety. But where the conical explosive bullets of the twentieth century were of no avail the poisoned arrows of the natives, dipped in the juice of strophantus and steeped afterward in decayed carrion, could succeed. Such arrows were of little avail to the hunter who attacked the beast, because their action in that torpid circulation was slow, and before its powers failed it could certainly overtake and slay its assailant. But now, as the two monsters hounded us to the very foot of the stairs, a drift of darts came whistling from every chink in the cliff above them. In a minute they were feathered with them, and yet, with no sign of pain, they clawed and slithered with impotent rage at the steps, which would lead them to their victims, mounting clumsily up for a few yards and then sliding down again to the ground. But at last the poison worked. One of them gave a deep rumbling groan and dropped his huge squat head on to the earth. The other bounded around in an eccentric circle, with shrill, wailing cries, and then, lying down, writhed in agony for some minutes before it also stiffened and lay still. With yells of triumph the Indians came flocking down from their caves and danced a frenzied dance of victory around the dead bodies, in mad joy that two more of the most dangerous of all their enemies had been slain. That night they cut up and removed the bodies, not to eat, for the poison was still active, but lest they should breed a pestilence. The great reptilian hearts, however, each as large as a cushion, still lay there, beating slowly and steadily, with a gentle rise and fall, in horrible independent life. It was only upon the third day that the ganglia ran down and the dreadful things were still.

One fact we had very speedily discovered—the Indians would do nothing to help us to reach the outer world. In every other way they were our friends—one might almost say our devoted slaves—but when it was suggested that they should help us to make and carry a plank which would bridge the chasm or when we wished to get from their things of leather of hide to weave ropes which might help us we were met by a good humored but an invincible refusal. They would smile, twinkle their eyes, shake their heads, and there was the end of it. Even the old chief met us with the same obstinate denial, and it was only Mactas, the youngest whom we had saved, who looked wistfully at us and told us by his gestures that he was grieved for our thwarted wishes. Ever since their crowning triumph with the ape men they looked upon us as supermen, who bore victory in the tubes of strange weapons, and they believed that so long as we remained with them good fortune would be theirs. A little red skinned wife and a cave of our own were freely offered to each of us if we would but forget our own people and dwell forever upon the plateau. So far all had been kindly, however far apart our desires might be, but we felt well assured that our actual plans of a descent must be kept secret, for we had reason to fear that at the last they might try to hold us by force.

In spite of the danger from dinosaurs (which is not great save at night, for, as I may have said before, they are mostly nocturnal in their habits), I have twice in the last three weeks been over to our old camp in order to see our negro, who still kept watch and ward below the cliff. My eyes strayed eagerly across the great plain in the hope of seeing afar off the help for which we had prayed. But the long, cactus strewn levels still stretched away, empty and bare, to the distant line of the capebrake.

"They will soon come now, Massa Malone. Before another week pass Indian come back and bring rope and fetch you down." Such was the cheery cry of our excellent Zumbo.

I had one strange experience as I came from this second visit which had involved my being away for a night from my companions. I was returning along the well remembered route and had reached a spot within a mile or so of the marsh of the pterodactyls when I saw an extraordinary object approaching me. It was a man who walked inside a framework made of bent canes, so that he was inclosed on all sides in a bell shaped cage. As I drew nearer I was more amazed still to see that it was Lord John Roxton. When he saw me he slipped from under his curious protection and came toward me laughing and yet, as I thought, with some confusion in his manner.

"Well, young fellow," said he, "who would have thought of meetin' you up here?"

"What in the world are you doing?" I asked.

"Visitin' my friends, the pterodactyls," said he.

"But why?"

"Interestin' beasts, don't you think?"

I Was More Amazed to See That It Was Lord John Roxton.

But unsociable—nasty—the ways with strangers, as you may remember. So I rigged this framework, which keeps them from help to press in their attentions.

"But what do you want in the swamp?"

He looked at me with a very questioning eye, and I read hesitation in his face.

"Don't you think other people besides professors can want to know things?" he said at last. "I'm studyin' the pretty deers. That's enough for you."

"No offense," said I.

His good humor returned, and he laughed.

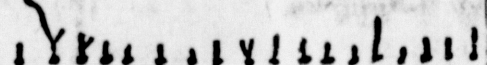

"No offense, young fellow. I'm going to get a young devil chick for Challenger. That's one of my jobs. No, I don't want your company. I'm safe in this cage, and you are not. So long, and I'll be back in camp by night-fall."

He turned away, and I left him wandering on through the wood with his extraordinary cage around him.

It was on the evening of a perilous adventure in a homemade balloon of Challenger's, in which we all nearly lost our lives, that a change came in our fortunes. I have said that the one person from whom we had had some sign of sympathy in our attempts to get away was the young chief whom we had rescued. He alone had no desire to hold us against our will in a strange land. He had told us as much by his expressive language of signs. That evening after dusk he came down to our little camp, handed me (for some reason he had always shown his attentions to me, perhaps because I was the one who was nearest his age) a small roll of the bark of a tree, and then, pointing solemnly up at the row of caves above him, he had put his finger to his lips as a sign of secrecy and had stolen back again to his people.

I took the slip of bark to the fire-light, and we examined it together. It was about a foot square, and on the inner side there was a singular arrangement of lines, which I here reproduce:

They were neatly done in charcoal upon the white surface and looked to me at first sight like some sort of rough musical score.

"Whatever it is, I can swear that it is of importance to us," said I. "I could read that on his face as he gave it."

"Unless we have come upon a primitive practical joker," Summerlee suggested, "which I should think would be one of the most elementary developments of man."

"It is clearly some sort of script," said Challenger.

"Looks like a guinea puzzle competition," remarked Lord John, craning his neck to have a look at it. Then suddenly he stretched out his hand and seized the puzzle.

"By George," he cried, "I believe I've got it! The boy guessed right the very first time. See here! How many marks are on that paper? Eighteen. Well, if you come to think of it, there are eighteen cave openings on the hill-side above us."

"He pointed up to the caves when he gave it to me," said I.

"Well, that settles it. This is a chart of the caves. What! Eighteen of them all in a row, some short, some deep, some branching, same as we saw them. It's a map, and here's a cross on it. What's the cross for? It is placed to mark one that is much deeper than the others."

"One that goes through!" I cried.

"I believe our young friend has read the riddle," said Challenger. "If the cave does not go through I do not understand why this person, who has every reason to mean us well, should have drawn our attention to it. But if it does go through and comes out at the corresponding point on the other side we should not have more than a hundred feet to descend."

"A hundred feet!" grumbled Summerlee.

"Well, our rope is still more than a hundred feet long!" I cried. "Surely we could get down."

"How about the Indians in the cave?" Summerlee objected.

After Your Child's Bath You Should Use Nothing But because nurses and mothers have learned after twenty years experience that its habitual use, after the bath, keeps children's skin free from irritation and soreness.

It is agreeable to the most delicate skin, and is the only powder that should be used every day on infants and children, as a great deal of skin soreness is caused by the use of highly perfumed powders. Mother's own toilet powder is not adapted to the delicate skin of a child, while Comfort Powder is especially made for children.

Sykes' Comfort Powder is not a plain talcum powder, but a highly medicated preparation, which if used daily will keep a child's skin smooth, healthy, free from odors, chafing, itching and all irritations.

30,000 CARRANZA TROOPS TO BORDER

Mexican First Chief Orders Big Army Toward Line.

OBJECT TO PREVENT RAIDS

New Note is Expected to Reply to Representations About Activities of Bandits.

Washington, May 24.—The Carranza government has ordered 30,000 troops into the region south of the border to exterminate bandits, according to information received at the state department.

The original orders of General Alvaro Obregón, Carranza's minister of war, issued after his conference at El Paso with Generals Hugh F. Scott and General Frederick Funston, assigned 10,000 men to General Trevino to thoroughly police the territory south of the American expedition.

The new troop movements are already in progress through Chihuahua the department's advance state. The column was routed north by way of Saltillo for the most part as the rail way strike has interfered with the movement of troop trains over other lines.

Officials here were inclined to anticipate a further delay by General Carranza in despatches to Washington his new note regarding the border situation. It has been assumed the note would, in some measure, be a reply to representations sent after the Glen Springs and Boquillas raids. The official announcement that Colonel F. W. Sibley's expedition in pursuit of the raiders had returned across the border, however, after penetrating 161 miles into Mexico on a hot trail, was expected to lead to some alterations in the Carranza communication.

Prompt withdrawal of the second expedition when it reached the end of the trail probably will have a beneficial effect on future negotiations with the de facto government, officials believe. General Carranza cannot fail to look upon the retirement of the troops when their immediate mission was ended, as demonstrating the purpose of the United States government to be only the policing of the border region. General Scott assured General Obregón that no troops would remain in Mexico when danger of new raids had passed and General Funston's handling of the Big Bend territory situation has fully carried out statements made to the Mexican minister.

Official reports said more than 3000 Texas national guardsmen have been mustered into the federal service. The total strength of the Texas forces was 163 officers and 2644 enlisted men when it was called out and additional men have enlisted for the border patrol. Mustering of the Arizona and New Mexico guardsmen is being delayed, General Funston reports, until the skeleton companies can be recruited to the required standard.

Secretary of War Baker has not decided what action shall be taken regarding 116 Texas guardsmen who declined to enroll in the federal service. Judge Advocate General Crowder has submitted an opinion to General Scott chief of staff, outlining the war department's authority to court-martial the recalcitrants. His only recommendation, however, was that if the court martial were ordered a majority of the members of each court be militia officers, not regulars.

The American consul at Chihuahua City, Marion Letcher, who reached here to confer with state department officials, said Carranza officials had told him that Pablo Lopez, the former Villa leader captured by Carranza troops, would be executed for participation in the Columbus and Santa Isabel murders.

ESCAPING MEXICANS SHOT
Morin and Ponce, Prisoners, Killed by Texas Rangers, is Report.

Brownsville, Tex., May 24.—Colonel Louis Morin, charged with planning a Mexican uprising in southern Texas and Victoriano Ponce, charged with participating in the wrecking of a train here last October, were shot to death when they attempted to escape from Texas Rangers.

The rangers were taking the Mexicans farther inland with a view to further identification in connection with the charges pending against them.

J. J. Hill's Recovery Slow.
St. Paul, Minn., May 24.—The recovery of James J. Hill is reported to be very slow and his family is reported to be deeply concerned about him. Reports are that Mr. Hill is worse than has been stated, but that his illness is not regarded as dangerous. He has been confined to his home since last Thursday. Mr. Hill for several days went to his office despite the protest of his family. Mr. Hill is seventy-eight years old.

Dropped In to See Enemy.
British Headquarters in France, May 24.—A novel incident occurred yesterday when for the first time, an aeroplane mistook an enemy aerodrome for its own. In the morning the aviators at one of the British aerodromes saw a German plane circling as if about to descend. Without interfering and thinking it had lost its bearings, they watched it come lower and it swept past and came to rest.

PARTY LEADERS CLASH OVER NAVAL BILL

Democrats to Force Final Vote Next Week.

Washington, May 24.—A special rule to provide for immediate consideration of the naval appropriation bill with night sessions, a limited period of general debate Friday or Saturday of next week, will be brought into the house next Monday.

Majority Leader Kitchin announced this plan after a heated debate between Democratic and Republican leaders on the floor during which Mr. Kitchin and Republican Leader Mann accused each other of misstating what took place at their informal conferences on calling up the measure. Mr. Kitchin insisted that Republicans had tacitly agreed to the plan which Democrats now plan to force through by a special rule, while Mr. Mann maintained that no understanding had been reached.

"I shall make no further attempt to reach an agreement with the Republicans," Mr. Kitchin said. "We went over the whole ground in conference and they agreed to my plan. I thought it was entirely satisfactory to them because many of the Republicans had told me that they were anxious to get away from Washington a week from Saturday in order to attend the Republican convention in Chicago."

In objecting to the plan to limit consideration of the bill to four or five days with night sessions Mr. Mann said it was "not generous, fair or decent." He asserted that Mr. Kitchin told him the president had insisted that the bill be passed before the Republican convention, which Mr. Kitchin denied.

Seek Gold Challenge Cup.

Albert L. Judson, president of the American Power Boat association, recently announced that instead of allowing the gold challenge cup of the association to remain in the custody of the Detroit Yacht club, an eastern yacht club will challenge for the trophy this summer with a new hydroplane. The new challenger is now in progress of construction and will be novel in design. Her builders believe she will be a genuine surprise to those interested in the construction and sailing of these high powered boats of extreme speed. Construction is to be along lines which have already been proved successful, and the men who are building her are confident that she will be able to defeat Miss Detroit or any of the craft which have as yet been shown on Lake Michigan.

VARIOUS FROSTINGS.

THE CAKE.—Sift twice a cup and a half of flour, sifted once before measuring; three level teaspoonsful of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt and a cupful of sugar. Break two eggs in a cup and fill the cup full of milk. Add this to the dry ingredients. Beat smooth with an egg beater and then add five level tablespoonsful of butter melted enough to be soft, but not liquid. Beat this in and bake the cake in two large layers or three very small layers and fill with any desired filling.

Marshmallow.—For marshmallow filling and frosting boil a cupful of sugar and a third of a cupful of boiling water without stirring until it spins a thread from the end of the spoon. Have ready five marshmallows cut into small pieces and pour over the white of an egg beaten until stiff, but not dry. Beat constantly until thick enough to spread. Flavor with vanilla.

Cocoa Frosting.—For cocoa frosting rub to a cream three tablespoonsful of cream, a cupful of confectioner's sugar and a tablespoonful of cocoa. Flavor with vanilla.

Orange.—Mix together half a cupful of powdered sugar, a beaten egg, a big tablespoonful of flour, half a tablespoonful of butter, the juice and grated rind of an orange and a teaspoonful of lemon extract. Cook for ten minutes in a double boiler. Cool and spread between the layers, with very thin slices of a peeled orange. Use without the orange slices on the top of the cake.

Chocolate Filling.—Melt two squares of chocolate over hot water and add three-quarters of a cupful of powdered sugar and three tablespoonsful of milk or cream. Cook in a double boiler until smooth and then add the beaten yolk of an egg. Cook one minute more and cool slightly before spreading between and on top of the layers.

Uncooked Icing.—It is always possible to make a quick icing of beaten egg white and confectioner's sugar. This can be used with chopped nut meats between the layers and with whole nut meats as a garnish on top, or shredded coconut can be added to it for the filling with candied cherries atop.

Hullo!

When you see a man in woe,
Walk straight up and say "Hullo!"
Say "Hullo!" and "How d'ye do?"
How's the world been using you?"
Slap the fellow on his back,
Bring your hand down with a smack!
Wait straight up and don't go slow,
Shake his hand and say, "Hullo!"
Is he clothed in rags? Oh, ho,
Walk straight up and say, "Hullo!"
Rags are but a cotton roll
Just for wrapping up a soul;
And a soul is worth a true
Hale and hearty, "How d'ye do?"
Don't wait for the crowd to go,
Walk straight up and say, "Hullo!"

When big vessels meet, they say,
They sail and sail away
Just the same as you and me,
Lonely ships upon the sea,
Each one sailing his own jog
For a port beyond the fog;
Let your speaking trumpet blow,
Lift your horn and cry, "Hullo!"

Say "Hullo!" and "How d'ye do?"
Other folks are good as you.
When you leave your house of clay,
Wandering in the far away,
When you travel through the strange
Country far beyond the range
Then the souls you've cheered will know
Who you be and say "Hullo!"

Lye as a Cleanser.
Puritized lye can be bought in cans with perforated tops. It is so useful in the household that no housekeeper can afford to be without it. If put into the sink, it keeps the drain clean, the lye uniting with grease and making a soap. It is invaluable for removing grease and stains from pots, pans and kettles, and especially the garbage pail, which should by all means be kept clean. A long-handled dish mop should be kept on hand to be used when cleaning with lye, as it is exceedingly injurious to the hands.

BETTER SUMMER SKIRTS

Wooltex-Tailored
Wooltex-Shrunk

JUST think of being able to get summer skirts of wash materials, designed and made by the same designers and tailors who make the famous Wooltex Coats and Suits.

Such skill was never before applied to the designing and making of wash Skirts.

Think how carefully the materials are selected. Each piece painstakingly inspected as it comes from the mills—not carelessly accepted on faith—and shrunk by a special Wooltex process that eliminates a large part of the shrinkage which proves so annoying in the ordinary wash Skirts.

Even the waist bands are Wooltex-shrunk, insuring a trim-fitting skirt after laundering as well as before.

Every seam is needled by the same craftsmen that make the skillfully tailored Wooltex suits and coats.

Is it any wonder that Wooltex tailored skirts are eagerly sought by those discriminating women to whom superiority in design and quality is important?

The prices are surprisingly moderate because they are made economically in this between-season period.

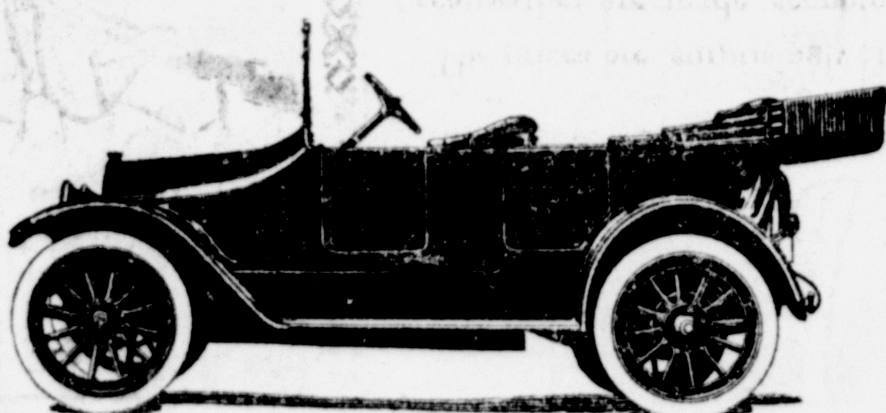

Come and inspect the Wooltex-tailored wash skirts for yourself. You will appreciate the many superiorities of these better summer skirts.

The 1916 Maxwell - 25

From Detroit to Gettysburg
552 miles on 26 1-2 gallons of gasoline

J. HERMAN BREAM, of the Centre Square Garage, who is agent for the Maxwell Cars, left the factory in Detroit on Friday, with three other passengers in the above car.

They arrived in Gettysburg Sunday evening and the speedometer registered exactly 552 miles. A careful measurement of the gasoline, oil, and water showed that they used 26 1-2 gallons of gas, 7 quarts of oil, and 7 quarts of water.

This means that the car, which was brand new (there was no opportunity to have the motor loosened up) came over MUDDY ROADS and made an average of nearly 21 MILES TO THE GALLON OF GAS and 79 MILES ON ONE QUART OF OIL.

The total Garage bill for the trip was $9.43.

Having made this run, the car will be sold as "second hand", at a price considerably below the market value. It is on display at the

and you are invited to see if you can pick it out from other brand new cars of the same model that stand beside it.

Comb Sage Tea In Faded Or Gray Hair

If Mixed With Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown drugist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

WILSON PROGRAM IS CARRIED OUT

Popular or Not, Democrats Pass Administration Bills.

PREDICTIONS NOT FULFILLED

Rural Credits, Shipping Bill, Together With Immigration Problem, Good Roads and River and Harbor Measure Have Been Disposed Of—Naval and Revenue Measures Remain.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 24. (Special.)—Whether the legislation of the present congress proves popular or not, it must be said that the Democratic party, in control of both houses of congress, is marching forward, carrying out a program from which it seldom deviates.

So far the party has been able to pass such bills as it desires, and, although many of the measures are still in conference, it seems absolutely certain that before the session ends most of the legislation that has been urged by the president or demanded by the majority in congress will have been written upon the statute books.

Unfulfilled Predictions.

It was freely predicted when the present session of congress assembled that, on account of the Democrats having only a majority of about thirty in the house, that party would be unable to pass any so-called affirmative legislation and that most of the bills suggested in the messages of the president would fall by the wayside. But congress has not only taken up the bills which the president wanted, such as rural credits and the shipping measure, but has also passed on its own account the immigration bill, the good roads bill and the river and harbor bill. There are several measures relating to conservation which are still in dispute between the two houses, and it seems likely that they will fall because neither branch will give in to the demands of the other.

Legislation For Preparedness.

While the army bill is not what at first was wanted and is far from what Secretary Garrison first recommended with the approval of the president, yet congress has in a way met the expectations of those who insisted upon a larger military establishment by passing the compromise army bill. The naval program is yet to be fully determined, and the progress on that measure has been exceedingly slow. It is in conformity with the usage that the naval bill is one of the last of the great appropriation bills to be presented, and it is quite likely that this measure will go over until after the conventions.

In connection with the preparedness program there is a revenue bill yet to be enacted, and that, too, will be delayed until after the navy bill passes so that the ways and means committee can determine the amount of revenue necessary to be raised to meet the increases of the military establishment.

"The Full Dinner Pail."

It would certainly be quite a strange sight to see "the full dinner pail" slogan in the coming political campaign. And yet that is not only among the possibilities, but it is probable that the Democrats will use this argument in the campaign this year and cite the fact that the country is prosperous that every man who wants work can get it and that the farmers were never receiving better prices than they are at present for the products which they have to sell. "The full dinner pail" was Mark Hanna's slogan in 1900. It will be like history repeating itself if the Democrats use it to recede their administration, as the Republicans used it to recede McKinley sixteen years ago.

Large Appropriations.

During discussion of a bill to appropriate $3,000,000 to erect a building for the department of justice Senator Williams remarked that the appropriations for the present session of congress will exceed those of any other session by hundreds of millions of dollars.

"By over $200,000,000," remarked Senator Kern, who is the Democratic leader of the senate.

Big Future For Rural Credits.

Congressman Moss of Indiana, who has given a great deal of attention to rural credits legislation ever since he has been in congress and made some of the most telling arguments in favor of the bill when it was before the house, expresses the opinion that a good bill has been passed and that it will result in great benefit to the farmers of the country. Moss says it is going to result in a larger individual ownership of farms than heretofore and also a better utilization of the lands by the farmers.

Ashurst Is Successful.

"I have accomplished one thing," remarked Senator Ashurst of Arizona, who has been persistently advocating a stronger force on the border and who has demanded that all of the militia of the country be sent to patrol the frontier to prevent incursions of Mexican bandits into United States territory. "I finally got some of the war department to swear. As I have argued them to that point, I hope that something may be done in the future."

Wisdom Cannot Always Save.

Superior wisdom doesn't save a man. A weather prophet catches cold as often as anybody else.
